Dr Charlotte Slade

Clinical Immunologist,
The Royal Melbourne Hospital

Dr Charlotte Slade is a clinical immunologist at The Royal Melbourne Hospital and a medical researcher at the Walter and Eliza Hall Institute. Her research has contributed to the discovery of novel genetic causes of the most common primary immunodeficiency, CVID, and has been translated to improved diagnosis and treatments in the clinic. She has presented her work at a number of national and international conferences and is a member of the Australasian Society of Clinical Immunology and Allergy, the Federation of Clinical Immunology Societies, the Australasian Society of Immunology and the European Society for Immunodeficiencies.

Dr Frederick J Lee

BSc MBBS (Hons) PhD FRACP FRCPA

Dr Frederick Lee is a Clinical Immunologist and Immunopathologist based at the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital, Sydney. As a clinician, he specialises in HIV/AIDS management and also has an interest in the assessment and management of complex drug allergy. Dr Frederick Lee maintains an active role in vocational training with the Royal Australasian College of Physicians and the Royal College of Pathologists of Australasia.

Dr Tiffany Hughes

Senior Clinical Immunologist,
Flinders Medical Centre

Dr Tiffany Hughes is currently a Senior Clinical Immunologist and Allergist at Flinders Medical Centre and a Senior Lecturer at Flinders University. She has a small private practice, Malvern Allergy.

She is best known nationally for teaching advanced trainees in clinical immunology and immunopathology, and for many years she held the role of Chair of the Joint College Training Committee for Immunology and Allergy. She also had roles on ASCIA, was Chair of the RCPA Quality Assurance Programme for immunopathology and a RCPA college examiner.
